DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claims 1-5 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Regarding claims 1 and 4,

It is not clear, where, how or what receives the recited limitation step of "receiving said adjusted feedback signal", since the claim implies that a controller receives the adjusted feedback signal for controlling the laser by reciting the step of "controlling...", therefore the step of "receiving..." is indefinite.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless -

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

Claims 1-8 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Neuberger et al (US 2004/0227056).

Regarding claims 1, 4 and 6,

Paragraph [0015] discloses calibrating a radiation source [applicant's laser beam] and a delivery system [applicant's optical bundle] in accordance to the delivery system selected or detected. Figure 5a illustrates calibration sheath (503), which consist of an array of photodetectors [applicant's optical sensor], illustrates an optical fiber (505) [applicant's optical bundle] as described in paragraph [0040] the radiation activated and information is transmitted by sheath (503) to the calibration subsystem (403) illustrated in figure 4, which determines [applicant's processing] whether the parameters are within pre-selected levels and alters [applicant's controller] the power of the emitted radiation source as needed, see paragraph [0039]. Paragraph [0007] discloses the calibration system used for a single device or a system, which implies a plurality of radiation sources. Paragraph [0026] also describes an identification sensor for calibrating the laser source, where the sensor may be positioned with the laser source [between laser and optical bundle].

Regarding claims 2 and 8,

Paragraph [0015] discloses storing the characteristics of the delivery systems.

Regarding claim 7,

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 3 and 5 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.
